Mary had a little cake, Its ico was white as snow; 'Twas fair to see and sweet to taste, For Brongle makes them so.

aug25-d6m

She took the cake to school one day : It was against the rule;
For children all love Brengle's cakes
And take a bite in school.

And eat it on the sly; And after school, with solemn face, She told the child a lie. She said, the mice had eat the cake

And so the teacher took the cake

And thought it very nice: That all of them that tasted it Had turned to candy mice. The candy mice the windows show

And tempt the boys to break, Were just the very little mice That nibbled Mary's cake. But Mary was not fooled at all. "Too thin," was all she spake, The teacher quick to Brengle's skipped And bought another cake.

And Brengle has lots of such Cakes on hand for form: in the city, for ladies, gents, misses, boys and infants; prices 15c to $5 each.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE, begun in 1759, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia. It has survived, with few exceptions, all the public presses in America which saw with it the dawn of the nineteenth century. It lives, too, not in decay, but full of life and vigor, giving all the news, telling the truth without fear, favor or affection, tranching on the privacy of no man's home, but full to the brim with all public information, and giving daily honest judgments of public men and public measures.

It furnishes the news telegrams of the New York Associated Press and of Reuter's European agency, being, with but three exceptions, the only paper between Baltimore and Richmond that is thus connected with the great fountsins of the world's news.

With the coming year all the long tried and mproved methods of making a standard newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as past experience justifies the proprietor in believing will add to the capacity of the Gazette to serve its readers. It expects to render faithful service to the city, the state and the country by a candid criticism of mon and events in the interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

To meet all the demands upon it, the Cazette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICH. MOND NEWSPAPER, as well as an ALEX. ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has left little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute perfection in these departments,

The city of Alexandria will flad as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Commonwealth which nature has bound to Alexandria by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron bands of railways, will be assidnously

The Business and Commercial columns of the Gazette will be filled with the carliest and most exact commercial news, edited with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible.

The Cattle Markets of all the leading points of the world whose rates affect this market will be quoted, and regular statements of the Baltimore, Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria sales of cattle will appear.

Tue Flour, Grain and Product movement will be noted daily, and the sales of the Alexandris and neighboring markets given with accuracy and dispatch. The Grocery and other markels will receive constant attention, and the money or stock markets of the country opitomized for its columns, full details being given to all stocks, &c, which find investors in this section of the country.

The advertising columns of the Gazette offer inducements which experience has shown to afford greater returns for a small investment than any other which can be made.

Burglars' Mistakes.

For two years past the officers of the Sccret Service Division of the government have been endeavoring to unravel the mystery attached to the attempted robbery of the U. S. sub-Treasury in this city. Up to this time they have met with indifferent success, and the chances are they will never be able to accertain with distinctness who were in the plot. As the case stands now it is a matter of suspicion against some of the beldest cracksmen in the country. None but thieves were concerned. and they refuse to give information which might lead to the detection of their confederates. The story is an interesting one. But for a mis calculation on the part of the robbers they would have succeeded in capturing; some twelve millions of dollars of coupons and cash. I would have been the largest haul over made in this country but for their stupidity. The large vault in Treasurer Egster's office, in the Cus tom House contains two apartments. In one of these it is customary to store the cash and coupons that are presented for interest. In the other small coin is kept. This fact became known, and a gang was organized to make a raid on the place.

One day a reverend looking gentleman with c'erical-out garments and a white choker, waited upon Collector Tutton and informed Lim that he was the Rev. Mr. Paddock. The official knew of this clergyman. The sham minister was accompanied by an innecent appearing young man, who he stated was one of his parishoners. Dr. Paddock would be so much obliged to the Collector if he could only give the young man something to do-some light work, such as watchman-as he was in need, and his health would not admit of exposure Collector Tutton was exceedingly pleased to see Dr. Paddock. Mr. Tutton's rector in Downington and Dr. Paddock were in fact well acquainted, and Mr. Tutton talked freely of Downington's spiritual needs. To the reverend gentleman he explained that no reliance could be placed on the recommendations of politiclans, while a minister's endorsement was rearly always a safe guide. The sham clergy man got quito shaky when Mr. Tutton touched on Downington matters, but soon switched off the emversation and avoided embarrassment. It is now disclosed that "Shoey" Miller, who was mixid up in the bogus naturalization business, and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Eastern Penitontiary, personated the Roy. Dr. Paddock, and was a party to the job. The young man recommended by him was appointed and made a watchman. By a strange coincidence the fellow was assigned to that end of the building where the sub Treasury is located. For weeks he was attentive to duty; but all this time he was gathering points and familiarizing himself with every part of the building and with all the persons employed in it. These facts were made known to the gang of which he was a member, and some of his confederates visited the place to learn the by-

The rebbers exhibited no unde baste in moving upon their pray, Lu: waited until the time when the quarterly interest on the United States bonds fell duo. They knew that large soms of money were stored in the vaults. One Sunday morning it was discovered that a hole had been made in the side of the Customhouse wall, large enough to admit of the passage of a man's body through it. A closer examination revealed the fact that this led direetly into the vault. The place had been cleaned out, but the robbers had been fooled. In this apartment were stored the pennies and small coics. Next to it, and with only the thickness of a few bricks, was the huge pile of interest money. It had been presumed that the thieves believed they had struck bags of gold, and that in the darkness they merely felt of them to learn whether they were coin or not, and immediately passed them out to their confederates to carry to a place of safety. Instead of going further the job was for some reason abandoned at this time, and after an outlay of thousands of dollars the burglars captured but a couple of hundred dollars worth of pennics. -Philadelphia Times.
